Who is giving his time and his life to the betterment of the Student Body at Emory Academy. One whom we respect as a professor of the highest type; admire as a man of the greatest ability; and love as a true Christian Gentleman.

We dedicate this third volume of our year book, as a means of expressing the high esteem in which we hold him.

Student Body, Emory University Academy
In this, the third volume of our year book, we have done our best to justify the faith put in us by you, the Student Body of Emory Academy.

No efforts have been spared to make this a true chronicle of the Student Life at Emory Academy during the past year, and we sincerely hope that in the future no Emory man will turn these pages without thinking that those efforts, to some measure, succeeded in their purpose.

EDITOR-IN-CHIEF.

Greetings

To the Class of 1926 and to the Student Body of Emory University Academy we present this, the third volume of the Emocad, as a representation of the Staff's faithful work found herein. May this book recall many pleasant memories of the days spent in Oxford, and may all the faults of the book be forgotten. And our greatest wish is that these pages be as interesting to you as the work has been to us.

Campus
Alma Mater

In the heart of dear old Dixie
Where the sun doth shine
There is where our hearts are turning
'Round old EMORY'S shrine.

(chorus)
We will ever sing thy praises
Loyal sons and true
Hail we now our "ALMA MATER"
Hail the "GOLD and BLUE."

Though the years around us gather
Crowned with love and cheer
Still the memory of old EMORY
Grows to us more dear.

EDWARD COOPER SMITH
Donaldsville, Ga.
"Billie"
Emory University A.B.
"Billie" is little but loud, and not in words, but in actions. Although one of the smallest boys in the Senior Class, he is one of the smartest, and very few can beat him when it comes to school work. "Billie" is also somewhat of a poet.

HAROLD SMITH
"Smithy"
Emory University A.B.
Here we have "Smithy," one of the leaders in the athletic activities of Company "A". He has been upholding the colors of Company "A" during the past two years and has done his part well. "Smithy" is a good all-round student and a credit to Oxford.
A. MORSE SCHEESLEY
Jersey Shore, Pa.
"Morse"
Emory University
B.A.
"Morse" hails from Yankeeland but we are fast getting that out of him. In a short time he will talk just like the rest of us Georgia Crackers. He is one of the leaders on the campus, taking part in everything and lending his talents to all good works. We firmly believe that he is putting out our best annual, and the pages in this book stand as an example of his honest efforts and final success.

WILLIAM STOKES
Bronson, Fla.
"Bill"
Emory University
B.S.

FRANKLIN WARNELL
Cairo, Ga.

"Lou"

Emory University B.Ph.

"Lou" is the "sheik" of E. U. A. When it comes to making the fair sex fall, he can do it. Although he is in love with a young lady in "Cov," he is never too busy to take on another one. "Lou" is an all-around fellow and a splendid athlete. He was "A" Company's stand-by and stronghold at center this year. Go to it Frank, you are a good one.

GORDON NEAL WHITE
Atlanta, Ga.

"Gnat"

Emory University M.D.

Gordon came to Emory Academy three years ago and during that time has made a place for himself in the hearts of all. Also he made a hole in the ground by falling out of a third story window, but he weathered the storm and may he continue to do so as he meets the trials of life.

HAROLD W. WHITE
Sylvania, Ga.

"Speedy"

Emory University A.B.

Although "Speedy" has been with us only a few months he has enshrined himself in the hearts of the Student Body. He has one of the most striking personalities that we have come in contact with in many moons. Besides being an all-round good fellow, he is a "sheik" and rates on top in the realms of society.

PAUL J. ZACHARY
Milledgeville, Ga.

"Zach"

University of Georgia L.L.D.

When it comes to debating and sheiking "Zach" is always on hand. He can do both just as easy as falling off of a log. "Zach" is one of the best of our new boys and we are sure that he will be a credit to Georgia University.
Senior Class History

OUR long years ago a slow motion train traveling over the Georgia Railroad pulled into the depot at Covington, unloading her cargo of some twenty green Freshmen. There was a great reception awaiting us and the cries of "new boy," "fresh meat," etc., will ring in our ears from henceforth. But alas, those are not the only sayings that have so fixed themselves upon our minds as to be remembered in the years to come. "Uncle Bob" and his old "Arabs," "Pa" Reese's "Now Young Gentlemen," Count and his "Congruents," Dr. M' Coy's "Drastic Measures," Shorty and his "Wesleyan Speeches," these things can never be obliterated from the pages of memory.

Time in her flight has changed the old class until only four of the original members remain, "Duck," "Caruso," "Pee Wee," and "Pedro," but addition and subtraction have entered in to help and our present Senior Class is the largest in the history of E. U. A.

As Freshmen we learned a two-fold history course under "Uncle Bob," "Spring Heel's" Rast taught us concerning the English verb, Count explained the hidden truths of algebra, while "Squire" spoke to us in no complimentary tones about our Latin.

Our Sophomore year found us still more happy and our pains of the previous year were well repaid. Our good friend Caesar proved to be our greatest enemy during our Sophomore year and many are the unfortunate who wish that he had never lived.

As Juniors "we hit 'em hard," taking honors in all student activities and in the classroom keeping up the old class spirit.

Nineteen Hundred and Twenty-Six dawned upon us as dignified Seniors who have made such accomplishments that we are prepared to go out and face the temporous sea of a college career.

The members of our class have been stars on the gridiron, sharks in the classroom, sheiks among the women, thereby writing on the hearts of all associates a history more beautiful than any that might be written herein, a history that will live and grow down through the years to come.

Signed: JULIAN P. GUNNELS,
Class Historian.
Senior Class Poem

Gather, my comrades, here;
Gather with rousing cheer;
Ne'er shall we be as near
Again together.
Gather our tale to tell;
Gather to bid farewell;
Long shall we live, and well,
In every weathet.

Rocky has been our way;
Long was the path to day;
But with the dawn we say.
"Farewell to Emory."
Now has our life begun;
Now will we every one.
Say with the prep race won.
"We love thee, Emory."

Now comes the time to part,
And e'er we drift apart,
We say from every heart.
"Let's be forever
Worthy to bear the name,
Carry the Emory name;
Noble in reach and aim
May we be ever."

J. Hal Asbury, Jr.,
Class Poet.
Senior Class Prophecy

PROFESSOR McCoy had just caught me smoking for the third time. "Something must be done about this,' he was saying as I came to my senses after the shock of a terrible burn in the palm of my hand, a burn that resulted from the thought that I could hide the evidence from a Faculty officer.

"Something must be done immediately. We have a ruling here that any student caught smoking must suffer a penalty of twenty-five hours of extra duty. Possibly you are aware of that." After some deliberation I assured him that I was, and he continued: "And if you have thought much about the matter you will agree with me that it is a perfectly foolish ruling. Why—it is unbelievable how much harm such a regulation does because you will have to admit that it is harmful to smoke cigarettes. Did you know that at the first of the year only one boy at the academy smoked? I remember well when he was caught. Six other young men were present, all of them innocent boys. But when they learned that smoking was forbidden, they immediately bought a carton of Camels and proceeded to demonstrate their independence. Soon they were reported; then the number increased to thirty-six: a third report caused the number to jump to—?"

But I politely waved him to silence, knowing that the students had reasoned this out long before and not wishing to embarrass him by causing him to realize the true state of faculty intelligence.

"I simply wanted to add this much," he said apologetically, after begging my pardon for continuing: "and that is I have talked the matter over with Dr. McCoy, Lieutenant Boulware, Mr. Ellington, and other members of the discipline committee and we have decided to allow you to choose either the hours or the proverbial three wishes that you heard so much about in the days of fairy tales."

It seemed too good to be true. Unbelievingly I wished that it might be and that I might spend the Saturday afternoon in Covington as I had planned.

"You may," he read my thoughts smilingly, and I realized that two of the wishes were gone. In a quick effort to make the best of what was left I cried: "For the third make me a prophet, and let me see what the world is at last coming to!" In an instant my request was granted and I was free to roam at will through time and space.

The relief was so great that I immediately felt the need of a celebration so I wished myself in a New York concert hall where the world's greatest jazz orchestra was to be heard. Imagine my surprise when I found it was composed almost entirely of old E. U. A. students. Ed Hopkins was the conductor with Hal Asbury and Frank Warnell taking solo parts with the cornet. William Lee Wall, Red Cooper, Lawrence Kelly, Nathan Johnston and Leo Shearouse were also ornamenting the concert stage, and my surprise was doubled when my old friend Joe Mobley walked before the audience and lifted his famous tenor voice in song as the crowds roared applause.
After leaving the hall I was driven by hunger into a nearby Broadway restaurant where Olin Wright greeted me at the door as head waiter, and gave me his personal escort to an excellent table where I was served by another classmate, Render Gresham. The result was an attack of acute indigestion (it appeared later that Tom Methvin was chef with Ed Martin as his assistant), and the first person I met upon entering the hospital was Linton Foshee, M.D. One look was enough and I took advantage of my power and placed myself as far away as possible. in Florida, ten years later.

Finding nobody there and disliking sand and mosquitoes, I hurried back northward as far as North Carolina and moved the time back ten years. Chapel Hill was wild over the exploits of a recent football victory over Notre Dame in which the Crawford brothers and Bob Rich did stellar work under the inspiration of the students’ cheers, led by Wayne Blackwelder. The militia had to be called out to quell the riot, and I remained only long enough to recognize Captain Emmett Parish and Lieutenants Bob Neel, Stanley Walton and Edgar Clary. Something extraordinary had happened I knew, and it was not until I discovered that they had been trained by Major Jack Simmons, of the Mansfield National Guards, was the mystery explained.

The frequency with which I ran across my old classmates caused me to plan a tour of investigation. Red Marshall was playing big league baseball; Clifford Lowden was selling fish back home in Savannah; Calhoun Hogan was making a brilliant success in the undertaking business; Joseph Hughes was professor of literature in a mid-western college, and Gordon White was a conductor in the first train of the new Atlanta subway. Frank Lester was a Covington lawyer who would run over to Oxford once a week to try cases brought before him by Chief of Police Ted Middlebrooks, and Harold White was continuing to look forward toward getting a diploma from E. U. A. in June in spite of the habit Professor Raiford Robinson had of keeping him on the bull ring for smoking.

John Poer was a missionary to China. George Gleaton, Albert Burton and Bill Stokes were members of the Emory Faculty and John Greer was editor of the Atlanta Georgian. Roy Fields was happily married in Sylvania with a son named after each member of the old Emory Academy faculty; Sam Belcher and Tom Burton were back in the merchant marine; E. C. Smith had developed into a well known after dinner speaker, and Julian Gunnels was serving as pastor of the North Covington Methodist Church where Leo Posey and Harold Smith were his leading laymen. Bob McGarity was farming near Oxford and Lewis Linn had happily settled down near Athens.

I was growing tired so I hurried forward to Emory Junior College many years later. D. B. Dixon was the popular principal. interscholastic athletics were in full sway, and Paul Zachary had put aside his faculty robes, donned a skull cap, and was leading the cheering.

Then the shock of seeing, a few minutes later, Pete Dillard, another one of my old classmates, serving on the faculty of Emory Junior College and using a belt on the grandson of one of his former teachers for chewing tobacco was so great that I was thrust back through a period of nearly forty years to a time not long after graduation. The scene was a front porch, and by the light of a harvest moon I could see one that I thought to be Forest Gay. I drew nearer. It couldn’t be; there was a girl with him, and he was softly holding her hand. A closer look verified my first suspicions, and then I heard Gabriel’s horn. Our bachelor had fallen. The world came tumbling down. And realizing at last that it was all a wild, impossible, inconceivable dream, I tumbled out of bed as the last notes of reveille sounded in the morning air.

A. M. SCHEESLEY.
Last Will and Testament of the Senior Class, 1926

We, the brethren of the Class of Nineteen Hundred and Twenty-six, Emory University Academy, Oxford, Georgia, being in possession of our power of reasoning, and in a sane state of mind, do give this as our last will and testament. Let all parties concerned know hereby that this makes null and void all wills or promises that may have been made thoughtlessly heretofore.

In this sad and solemn hour, when grief does weigh down our humble hearts because of our being broken asunder, and being about to sail out on the turbulent seas of a college career we do dispose of such estates as Dame Fortune has seen fit to bestow upon us as follows:

To our beloved Alma Mater, our sincerest thanks for such enlightenment as we may have gleaned while worshiping at her throne of knowledge.

We bequeath to our instructors, who have stood by us so faithfully through our numerous trials and tribulations throughout our stay here, our hearty appreciation.

We give to our successors, the Junior Class, our Senior dignity and all privileges that go therewith. May they derive even more pleasure and benefit from them than we have.

We make the following individual bequests, not as a child may throw aside a toy because it has tired of it, but as constant reminders of our generosity so brilliantly displayed throughout our Senior year:

I. To Professor S. J. McCoy, the privilege of obtaining Sherlock Holmes' assistance, at our expense at any time he may see fit while dealing with our successors.

II. To Sam MacMahan, the position as the basketball star of E. U. A. which has been held heretofore by "Caruso" Parish.

III. To Robert Holman, Colonel Gunnel's oratorical ability.

IV. To "Parson" Conner, Jack Simmon's interest in military affairs.

V. To "Bill" Fowler, the popularity of Morse Scheesley.

VI. To Russell Whiddon, "Duck" Gay's outstanding place as a football player.

VII. To George Tucker, D. B. Dixon's popularity among the ladies.

VIII. To T. P. Cunningham, "Red" Marshall's baseball knowledge.

IX. To Tom Marshburn, Frank Lester's line of hot air.

X. To Henry Lovett, the unsurpassed laziness of Mr. Franklin Warnell.

Besides the above mentioned gifts, we do leave, not because of necessity, but of our own free will and accord, our pledge of friendship forevermore, and our best hopes for their crowning success as the Class of Nineteen Hundred and Twenty-seven.

And we do hereby appoint our beloved principal as sole executor of this, our last will and testament.

In witness whereof we, the Class of Nineteen Hundred and Twenty-six, have to this our will set our hands and seals this thirty-first day of May, Anno Domini, Nineteen Hundred and Twenty-six.

History of Junior Class

One beautiful morning in the Fall of '23 there was seen at the office of the registrar a bunch of green, greener, greenest Freshmen hailing from the four winds of the earth. Some have drifted from our bunch, but more have drifted in until we now have what is considered the best Junior Class that Emory Academy has ever had.

Statistics show that our class has a high standing in athletic circles. George Tucker upheld our colors in the Tennis Tournament and was crowned one of the Champions. George is also baseball letterman. Many of the stars on the various Company teams are members of our class.

We have two Commissioned Officers to uphold our banner in military. Captain James Reese and Lieutenant James Reese ably represent us.

In literary circles we have the Sporting Editor and printer of the Bench Warrant.

Several members of our class belong to the Glee Club and orchestra and are helping to make these organizations successful.

Our honors have been attained only after hard work, and our struggle has been a long and tedious one. These things have caused us to realize the responsibilities resting upon us. As we take our place as the Class of '27, we realize the even greater responsibility of upholding the dignity and honor of our predecessors.

Class of Twenty-Six, farewell.

History of Sophomore Class

In the year nineteen hundred and twenty-four about thirty of us entered the Academy. Very green were we, indeed.

We have found it great to be cats after our struggle as rats and now we as cats make the rats stay in their place.

The class was considerably strengthened in number last fall and we are now the largest Sophomore Class that has ever attended the Academy. We have the highest grading of any preparatory school in the South and will show more men on the Blue List than will any one of our rivals.

In the two Literary Societies, Few and Phi Gamma, we have furnished several debaters and have several more promising ones for next year.

Our great orators are: Potts, Blalock, Boggus and Brodnax. In music we have Miss Rees, pianist; Franklin Neice, saxophone; Blalock, drums, and others who have distinguished themselves in this line.

We have several freaks and a philosopher, also a mathematician. We have no bootlicks, but simply a lot of accommodating fellows, who never hand in a paper in English or Math because it pleases the teacher. (they think) "to give bull-ring."

Last year in the track meet, one of our rats, Pennington, won first place for the broad jump, also we had two members of our class on the Boxing and Wrestling Team.

Two of our distinguished members belonged to the "Owl Club" and two made the Glee Club, namely, Zorillia and Blalock.

The Seniors gave us a lot of fatherly advice. We take it all in, as they have traveled the hard road before us long years ago.

We have had at all meetings unanimity of action, because of our class spirit and our lively faculty advisor, "Uncle Bob" Paine. And now that we are about to return to our homes for the summer vacation, we all go with pleasant recollection of our "Alma Mater" and of the Sophomore Class of nineteen hundred and twenty-six.

History of Freshman Class

The most oppressed of mankind. Such is the Freshman supposed to be, and we have proved no exception to the rule. But all our sorrows were spiced with joy, for looked down upon and laughed at as we are, yet we know full well that the greatest part of it is called forth by jealousy, and that those who laugh and scoff the most, the "Sophs" do it because they realize our great importance.

The "Profs" have not as yet realized what a vast store of gray matter they have under their control in the Class of '29. But we have the satisfaction of knowing that we do possess some sense: if others don't think that we do.

In the study hall the Freshman is noted for his absence (?) and on the "Bull Ring" for his faithful attendance, and in the class room for his close watch he keeps for the period bell, and his righteous anger when the professor is daring enough to keep him three minutes over time.

Thus far the Freshman has proceeded with all honor. One of our number, "Chigger" (Edward) Greer, being a star athlete in the field meet held here last April, and winning first place in the running broad jump. We have some really good looks in Felix Pickeren and we are sure that all who know him will agree with us that Carl Martin is angelic. Louie Forhand is so bright that it comes natural for him to make zero in everything.

There is not one among us who is not anxious to see the mists which obscure the future rolled away that he might catch a glimpse of what will happen when he climbs the next round of the ladder of fame, and arrives at the distinguished honor of Sophomore.

Military
The Military Department

The Military Department of Emory University Academy of 1926 has been better than ever before. The cadets have co-operated with the instructors in every way and as a result, our Military Department has had its most successful year.

A great part of the success attained this year is due to the untiring efforts of the Professor of Military Science and Tactics, Lieutenant Marcus B. Boulware, Captain Count D. Gibson, our Commandant, along with their assistants, Lieutenant Forrest T. Gay, and Sergeant Bernard F. McFealey.

We must not overlook our cadet officers. Major Gunnels and his staff have labored hard to make the year count.

We regret that our Professor of Military Science and Tactics, Lieutenant Marcus B. Boulware, will not be back with us next year. Lieutenant Boulware has been with us for the past four years and has established a great record as our leader and instructor. He has made a friend of every student with whom he has come in contact. He has the best wishes of the members of the student body wherever he may go.

CAPTAINS AND SPONSORS
To Our Coaches

Coaches, we can't tell how we appreciate your work; at least we cannot do so in words that really express our appreciation strongly enough. All we can say, Coaches, is that we are with you from start to finish, and know that next year will spell success for E. U. A., if you are at the helm of the old Gold and Blue.
CAPTAIN FORREST GAY
Fullback
Weight 175
Height 5 ft. 10 in.
Captain "Duck" Gay has been selected as the best football player at Emory Academy. He deserves the honor as well as that of Captain of the team. He is a born leader and did well this season as Captain of the "A" team. "Duck" is a ten second man, and you may be sure that it is a thrill to see him running with the pig-skin. He can also hit a line well. He should have no trouble making the Emory University Freshman team and should be one of the outstanding stars at Emory before finishing his work there.

SAM BELCHER
End
Weight 150
Height 5 ft. 9 in.
Sam played the right end position for "B" this year and held it very creditably. Sam does not possess decided ability at receiving passes, but can be depended upon to look after all loose balls. He was simply arsenic at recovering fumbles. Sam has played splendidly this season, and has a great deal of credit due him.

JACK SIMMONS
Fullback
Weight 165
Height 5 ft. 10 in.
Jack captained the championship "B" team this year, being very instrumental in copping the championship for his team. He called signals, did a great deal of the passing, and the bulwark of the line plunging. Jack certainly stepped out this season. He showed that he possesses the ability to make a college football team and we believe he will bring glory to his Alma Mater.

JOHN GREER
Quarterback
Weight 140
Height 5 ft. 8 in.
John directed the play of the "C" team and handled the job well. He very seldom ran with the ball, but when doing so, he surely did move. He's a very fast little man, and has been playing a great part of the successes attained by his Company.
AUSTIN ARMISTEAD
Tackle
Weight 175
Height 6 ft. 1 in.

Austin proved himself to be one of the best Prep school players in the state by his wonderful playing this year. He went about his work in a business-like way, getting his man out of the way on most every play. Austin is certainly a good defensive player. It was very seldom that a play was successful over his position. Austin possesses everything necessary to make a college football team and we believe he will not disappoint us.

JOHN POER
Center
Weight 160
Height 5 ft. 10 in.

John showed great ability at the center position. He was almost perfect at snapping the ball back and in most every other way was a very good center. John is a very quiet player, but his playing talks for him. We certainly hate to see John depart from us, but think it for the best as he is most certain of playing for some college team.

FRANKLIN WARNELL
End
Weight 145
Height 5 ft. 9 in.

Franklin is one of the best looking football players we have ever seen. We were always sure of having a large delegation of the fairer sex present when Franklin was to play. And he didn't disappoint them in his playing either, as he was one of the outstanding stars of the season. Talk about breaking up interference, but this guy can surely do it to perfection. He was of great aid to "A" Company in this department of play.

JOHN DAVIS
Tackle
Weight 175
Height 5 ft. 11 in.

John certainly did surprise everybody the way the played this year. He opened up a hole big enough for a wagon to pass through. John could also be depended upon to get the runner. He certainly hit hard and often. He will be back with us next year and should prove very valuable to the "A" team next season.
TODD CRAWFORD
Tackle
Weight 215
Height 5 ft. 10 in.
Todd is one of the most versatile players in school. He plays the line, is able to buck the line when playing in the backfield, is a splendid passer, and punts and drop-kicks well. He did all these things for the "B" team and did them well. He averaged something over 50 yards for his punting which is unusually good for a Prep school athlete. In one game, Todd was shifted to the backfield and began a passing attack which spelled defeat for the opposing team. Todd completing seven consecutive passes for long gains.

STRANLEIGH CRAWFORD
Halfback
Weight 140
Height 5 ft. 7 in.
Here's the fellow who can dropkick for our money. Stan failed only once during the season to boot the ball between the goal posts when his team needed the points. He can step with the ball, too. He is a shifty broken field runner and about the best hereabouts.

EDMUND HOPKINS
Center
Weight 140
Height 5 ft. 7 in.
"Hop" can surely play the center position. He has a knack of ploughing through the opposing line that is thrilling to watch. He plays a roving center, and naturally does a great deal of tackling. "Hop" is little but loud, and one of the best stars on the campus.

LEWIS LINN
Tackle
Weight 160
Height 5 ft. 8 in.
Lewis is another one of our quiet fellows who says little, but does a great deal. You very seldom heard anything from Lewis but knew that he was in the midst of the fight. Lewis, the limelight is waiting for fellows like you.
ALBERT BUTLER

Tackle

Weight 178
Height 6 ft.

This is "Boot’s" second year on our team. Both this and last season he played for "C" and worked hard to make that team a championship contender. "Boot" is a splendid defensive player, being able to take care of most anything coming his way. He also possesses the ability to plough open the line when in a tight place. Keep it up old man, we’re for you.

RUSSELL WHIDDON

Halfback

Weight 150
Height 5 ft. 9 in.

Russell was one of the main stars of the "A" Company team last year. He is a hard little player, playing with all the fight he possesses until the end of the game. Russell has a cool head and makes a capable field general when playing the quarterback position. His ability to return punts is something to marvel at.

LENOARD WALL

Halfback

Weight 150
Height 5 ft. 8 in.

Lenoard has been playing football at the Academy for the past three years. He has been selected for the All Emory team twice. Lenoard was one of the most brilliant players on the "C" eleven this year. He could always be depended upon to gain the needed yardage. He can surely buck a line as he has demonstrated during his stay with us.

BOB RICH

Weight 155
Height 6 ft.

Bob is undoubtedly one of the premier ends seen hereabouts. He is death at catching passes, splendid at breaking up interference, a hard tackler, and fights every minute. Bob has decided to enter West Point and just watch ’em open their eyes when they see this fellow in action.

Football History

The 1925 football season started with all three teams showing good form. All of the teams had good material to pick from and the season promised to be the best the school had seen.

In the curtain-raiser Company "B" met Company "C." The game was hard fought all the way through, both teams scrapping for all they were worth. The game came to a close with "B" Company on the big end of a 7-6 score.

The second game "B" Company met "A" Company and defeated them 3-0. This game proved to be the hardest fought of the season, neither team being able to gain much ground. The thrill came when "B" Company scored a field goal in the last thirty seconds of play.

The season went on in this manner, no company "cinching" the championship until the last game. Company "B" had a slight edge over the others in winning her first two games and in keeping this lead. She did not lose a game and tied only one. Although "B" Company won, she had to fight for it.

"A" Company also played good ball, tying two and losing only two. She had one of the hardest fighting teams on the campus and always went down fighting. Her boys are to be congratulated on their fine sportsmanship and clean playing.

Company "C" seemed to have been playing in hard luck, tying only one and winning none. They died hard, but Dame Fortune did not seem inclined to smile on them.

Caldwell

Guard

Captain Caldwell was another who played splendidly for "A" Company. Although playing a guard position, he was able to score quite regularly and was the offensive star of the "A" team. Caldwell possesses unusual ability and we will be pulling for him strongly when he enters college.

Emmett Parish

Center

Here we have one of our best basketball players. "Caruso," as he is known on the campus, has all the qualities needed in making a real player. He can dribble like greased lightning, and can always be depended upon for long shots. "Caruso" knows basketball from A to Z, and has been one of the most consistent players on the campus. We believe in the ability of "Caruso" and predict for him a most glorious future. Not only is "Caruso" a great basketeer, but also a splendid baseball player. He is in fact one of the best athletes at Emory University Academy.

Sam MacMahan

Forward

Sam played the right forward position for the Company "C" team. He played an important role in the offensive play of the team, being third high point man of the season. Sam has a good eye for the basket, being arsenic on the side shots. Sam possesses good form, and we are depending on him to make good. He will have another year with us in which to help cinch the championship for "C" again next year.

Frank Smith

Guard

Frank has been selected as the standing guard for the All Emory team. We have a good man in Frank. He has a knack of breaking up dribbling, and is able to take the ball from off the backboard with consistency. Frank has had a real good season and he deserves credit for the way he showed up.
BOB RICH
Forward
Weight 150 Height 5 ft. 10 in.
Bob played regular forward for the "A" team, displaying a fine brand of basketball throughout the season. It was due to his hard fighting and brilliant work that "A" was able to stay in the race. Bob should make West Point a valuable man.

GEORGE HARRIS
Guard
Weight 155 Height 5 ft. 11 in.
George was a scrub on the "B" team last season, but this year he cut loose with all he had and easily made the team. He was given the honor of leading Company "B" and made a good leader. George is a very smooth player, and looks good on a basketball court. He has a good eye for the basket and is a very dangerous man.

THOMAS BURTON
Guard
Weight 160 Height 5 ft. 9 in.
"Tom" was one of the mainstays on the "B" team. He could always be counted upon to do his share of the work necessary to produce victory. "Tom" is a splendid dribbler and should make some college a valuable running guard.

CHARLIE CRAWLEY
Forward
Weight 130 Height 5 ft.
"Pee Wee" Crawley has been playing for "C" Company for a long time and in this his last year, his team was able to carry off the championship. He was an important factor in bringing the championship to "C," displaying his ability at more than position. We have always known that he could shoot 'em, but this year in the last few games, he was switched to a guard position, and continued to strut his stuff. He ought not have any trouble playing for some college outfit. We're for you Charlie.
THE basketball season of 1926 showed that E. U. A.'s three games were more evenly matched than ever before. All the games were unusually thrilling and Coach Ellington's Company "C" team had to play its very best in order to emerge champions. "C" met "B" in the first game of the schedule. The first half ended 10-10. "B" took a short lead at the opening of the second half, but the rally was short lived, the "C" team launching a drive that netted 19 points against none scored by "B." The rally by the "C" team was the best exhibited during the season.

Company "C" met the "A" team in the second encounter. The "A" team staged a rally in the last minute of play which netted three field goals, bringing the score to read "C" 22, "A" 19. Leon Posey played well for "A," as did Caldwell, star running guard for the losing aggregation. MacManan and Parish starred for the winning "C" Company team.

"B" versus "A" was next on the schedule. After a hard fight, "A" was returned victorious by the tune of 16-7. "B" made only one field goal; this a long shot by Captain George Harris. "B" had plenty of "crip" shots, but was unable to make 'em count. Caldwell starred for the "A" team, bearing most of the offensive burden. Harris starred for "B."

"C" got right in the next game of the schedule against "B," running up a 23-4 score in the first half. "Cru" was right in this game, making eight points in the first few minutes of play. The entire "C" team was playing jam-up basketball and deserved to win. The final score reading 34-18. Stranleigh Crawford and Tom Burton starred for the "B" team.

Up to this time Company "B" had lost three games and won one. The old fighting spirit began to show itself, and after some changes in the lineup, the "B" team began to take on the appearance of a real contender for the title. "C" took an awful slump, losing her next two games to "A" and "B." The first upset came when "A" handed "C" a 23-15 defeat. "A" played wonderfully, smearing it all over the "C" boys. The next upset came when "B" gave "C" her second defeat, winning by a 19-14 score. "B" looked good, her passwork being superb. "B" defeated "A" in the second encounter between these two teams. The score was 17-9.

Company "C" got on edge for her last game of the season which had her meeting the "A" team. Shooting from all angles of the court, "C" was able to win by a 19-10 score. Captain "Caruso" Parish annexed 10 points to lead the teams in scoring. Browning and "Pee Wee" Crawley played well for "C," while Whiddon and Frank Smith looked best for "A."

In the final game, Company "B" was defeated by "A," 23-22 in the best game of the season. Harris, Rich and Whiddon were the stars of the fracas.

The "C" Company scrub team cinched the title in that division, losing only one game.

Individual scoring honors go to Captain "Cru" Parish of the "C" team, who shot 58 points in the six games. Second place went to Tom Burton with 38 points.

The 1926 season was the best yet, and will be one long to be remembered.

Jokes and Advertisements
Dear Mr. Parrish:

Replying to your good letter of May 1st, I am writing to authorize you to insert this simple note as our copy of an advertisement occupying a full page in the Emocad. We do this to let you know not only that we are back of your annual, but as an expression of our appreciation of the patronage that many of your graduates have given us. We think that we have built just the kind of school that a red blooded "Emocad" would like to attend. The work that Oglethorpe University is doing in original drama, in public debate, in scholastic achievement and in athletics speaks for itself. No school in the history of the United States has ever won in so short a while so many athletic championships as our boys have won for Oglethorpe. We will be pleased to send our catalogue and booklet of views to any one who will drop us a card, giving their address.

Heartily yours,

THORNWELL JACOBS,
President.

Make up your mind to get the full mileage out of that car of yours. Give it TEXACO Gasoline, the Volatile Gas.

Then see the difference. You get your money's worth of motor action every time you stop at a TEXACO pump. There's added power, quicker pickup, easier starting, less shifting and more miles per gallon in TEXACO Gasoline.

TEXACO Gasoline is volatile—it responds to the spark with a vim that puts every ounce of power into the rear wheels, where it's needed. Gasoline has but a fraction of a second to snap into action in the cylinder. TEXACO Gasoline does it.

"BUY WHERE YOU SEE THE TEXACO SIGN"
"A Su Servicio Senores"

There's really no sense in having this above quotation in Spanish in this advertisement, as it hasn't any connection at all with our sandwiches, candies or anything else we sell, but try and find out what it means and we will know you spent a few minutes looking at our advertisement, then we'll be happy.

The color left her cheeks,
But on the shoulder of his coat,
It showed quite plain for weeks.

"Mother, which frock must I wear to the party tonight?"
"I don't know, dear, I must see which one is the cleaner first."
"Well, find out, please, 'cause I want to know whether to wash for a square neck or a round one."
"Is Barbara fast?"
"Fast? Why her mother won't even let her accompany a young man on the piano unless she is well chaperoned."

First: "Poor Jerry smashed his car and got pinched yesterday."
Second: "Really? What was the charge?"
First: "Driving under the influence of woman."
He: "Do you like walking downhill?"
She: "Goodness no—my heel always catches."
He: "Fine. Let's drive up this mountain."
