The days have all gone by
You think of old times and give a sigh.
The friends who all have come and gone.
Now comes the time to move along.
The memories, all those memories.
Clear skies and sunshine looked down as the new freshmen and returning sophomores battled against each other on Field Day. As is customary, the Tug o' War event was the highlight of the competition.
Other races that enabled the students to demonstrate their abilities were the Neck Pass, the 100 Yard Dash, the Marshmallow Stuff and Dizzy Izzy.
"Welcome to Oxford" was on everyone's lips as new students and their parents arrived for Orientation. Many different activities were held during the week including parties sponsored by SAC, the movie "Caddyshack" and an ice cream social sponsored by CAC and "Field Day".
Orientation Week culminated with a performance by the renowned Atlanta Pops and later in the evening, Convocation, held in Allen Memorial Church.
A special event that occurs each quarter is Formal. The Fall Formal proved to be a very successful occasion. It was held at the Hyatt Regency of Atlanta with those in attendance entertained by PATCHWORK.
Formals are made even more unique by the visits of Dooley. As usual, Dooley’s letters, containing the unusual happenings of Oxford, were the highlight of the evenings.
The afternoon got off to a wet start, as the annual Dooley's Dolls Carnival got underway. Boys from Dowman, dressed in fatigues, bombarded all carnival goers and booths with water balloons and whipped cream.
Later in the evening, as the full moon rose, all sorts of weird looking creatures began to make their way down to Dooley's Tavern for the Stone – First East Halloween Party.
This year, Oxford's homecoming was held during the NJCAA Soccer Tournament. The Oxford Blues played against Dekalb Central in the semi-finals. Though Oxford lost 3 to 2 in overtime, Merrisa Posey, escorted by Bobby Brogdon, won the honor of being crowned Homecoming Queen by former queen, Catherine Cardoso. Melanie Stultz, escorted by David Sullivan, was first runner up.
The Homecoming Court was represented by Tricia Smith, escorted by Eric Bender, Beth Cook, escorted by Phillip Short, Elizabeth Higgins, escorted by Layne Swofford, Lisa Petrancosta, escorted by John Skinner and Carla Putnam, escorted by Greg Kirk.

The Homecoming Dance was a Toga Party, sponsored by Triangle L. The band, Blue Max, entertained the party-goers.
Atlantans wondered where all the “usual” inhabitants of 14th and Peachtree Streets were on the night of February 6. They all had congregated at Dooley’s Tavern for the famous W & P party. Dickey and Second East had outdone themselves again. The band METALWORKS entertained throughout the evening.
Stone Dorm has done it again. The Casino Party, held in the Rathskellar, was a grand success. Students dressed in semi-formal attire were able to try their luck at Roulette, Black Jack, Craps and many other games of chance. The Stone Bunnies served mixed drinks to the guests throughout the night as a band entertained other guests in the main lounge.
The First Annual Sweetheart Dance was held on February 20th. The dance was co-sponsored by the Black Student Alliance and the SAC. The highlight of the evening was the crowning of Ashley Register and Peggy Eason as King and Queen of the dance.
STUDENT GOVERNMENT ASSOCIATION

The Student Government Association is geared toward the unification of faculty and students and to build a bond between the Emory and Oxford campuses. All clubs on the campus are chartered through the S.G.A.

Sid Tidwell, G. Lamb, L. Ammons, E. Bender, M. Perry, L. Petre, M. Regan, C. Joyce.
A. Rabb, P. Shortt, P. Smith, N. Biggs.
M. Hitchcock, L. Hamilton, R. Robuston, B. Brinson,
P. Camp, J. Weiss, B. Clark, C. Gaba, R. Moore, G. Taylor, D. Lane, D. Bagwell, K. Smith, R. Vickery,
E. Higgins, J. Hough.

LES BELLES AMIES

Les Belles Amies is a social organization. Its main purpose is to promote friendship among its members. It enhances the social activities of Oxford College through such events as the roommate game and the Grad Bash. The members also get involved in a service project each year.
The Cultural Activities Committee is a division of the SGA, its purpose being to expose the campus and community to the many aspects of today’s culture. The “N-Cheese” Parties, concerts, and student-faculty events are just some of the CAC sponsored activities.

The Social Activities Committee is another division of the SGA with its purpose being to enhance the social life on campus. The SAC sponsors many campus parties, including the Fall, Winter and Spring Formals.

The Oxford Chorus consists of Music 101 students and other interested students. They learn much about different styles, periods, and performance techniques of music. The Chorus performs each quarter for the enjoyment of their fellow Oxford students and the entire community.

Every quarter, the Oxford campus is entertained by a drama production under the direction of Dr. Ellanor Pruitt and her assistants. Those persons that take part in the different plays constitute the Drama Guild. The enormous dramatic talent possessed by many Oxford students is evident through the expertise displayed in each play.
The International Club promotes interest in the many cultures of the world. The members and their heritages represent many other countries besides America. Through lectures and parties, the club desires to inform the students of the different aspects of all cultures.

Holloway, Posey, Tobin, Tobin, Tanks, Landt, Galarza, Land, Baird, Moore, Krus, Rice, Wheeler, Cashin, Rekos, Reagan, Martin, Ross, Kwon, Thorton, Ng, Montana, Beare, Webb, Saxon, Ware, Williams

Le Cercle Francais is devoted to bringing knowledge of France to Oxford. The club sponsors many discussions and lectures given by guest speakers to further students' familiarity with the French culture.

Edwards, Allison, Layman, Kemp, Grizzle, Camp, Smit, Wheeler, Martin, Krummel, Brogdon, Williams, Rekos, Clark, Vinson, Reagan, Robertson, Sultzer, Lane, Johnson, Ware, Holloway, Ethridge, Manes, Rodriguez, Okochi, Cashin, Wilcox, Howell, Baird, Dr. Morris
Dooley's Dolls is an organization of sophomore girls dedicated to community service. Some of their many activities include parties for the elderly, food for the less fortunate and helping whenever possible. This club also sponsored the Dooley's Dolls Ski Weekend and a Formal Fashion Show.

Circle K is another service conscious club. The club's major project of the year is to sponsor Red Cross Blood Drives. With the group's enthusiasm and willingness to work, the blood drives have proven to be successful.

Chastain, Collier, Saunders, Morris, Bryant, Smith, Cook, Yi, Godin, Copeland, Spence, Davidson, House, Smith, Rosser, Houston, Perry, Holloway, Baird, Galarza, White, Porter, Marion, Boddie, Higgins, Wilson, Turner, Thornton

The Blue Key Club is an extension of the WIAAC. The group is of service to both the community and Oxford College. The club's main goal is to promote interest in the athletic activities on campus, as well as, to provide recreational events for the children of the community.

Patty Galarza, Donna Dorough, Wendy Porter, Cheryl Tanks, Della Smith, Cyndi Krus, Chris Clayton, Melanie Perry

Rotoract is a club whose purpose is to be of service to the community, as well as, the college. Rotoract also sponsors the annual Gong Show and campus car washes.

The Women's Intramurals Committee is an important part of campus life. The WIAC is a group of active sophomore girls, representing New Hall Dorm, both Branham and East Halls. The committee's main goal is to promote interest and encourage participation in sports such as football, volleyball and softball.

Complementing the WIAC is the Men's Intramurals Committee. This group of sophomore men representing Bonnell, Stone, Dowman and Dickey strives to provide activity through such sports as football, softball, basketball, volleyball and soccer.
The Honor Council upholds the Honor Code by maintaining a sense of integrity and trust that is an essential part of the atmosphere at Oxford. The Honor Council also hears all cases involving breach of honor by students. Their recommendation for guilt or innocence is forwarded to the Dean for final decision.

The Conduct Council is responsible for hearing the cases of students who have been accused of violations of the Student Code. The rules of this code are enforced by the Council to ensure responsibility on the campus. The Council makes a recommendation on the ruling, but the Dean has the final word.

Dr. Blum, Dr. Landt, Dr. Strommer, David McDonald, Leslie Stewart, John Fason, Tricia Smith, Eric Bender, Mary Rosser.
In only its second year of existence, the College Bowl Team has reigned victorious in many competitions. They placed first in the Emory Intramurals, beating out many teams of Emory graduate students, and also won the Berry College tournament for two-year schools from all over the Southeast. Despite losing four graduating sophomores, they hope to continue their winning next year.

The Black Student Alliance, in its first year of operation on Oxford’s campus, has been very successful. The purpose of the group is to bring about Black cultural awareness to Oxford and to be of service to the community. Among its many credits are the Sweetheart Ball, formation of a BSA Choir, and many lectures with guest speakers concerning Black culture. The BSA has also co-hosted some Oxford Studies events.
With the intentions of stimulating interest among the students and faculty, "The Spokesman," as the voice of the students, provides news, entertainment, and creative works. It also introduces controversial ideas for the consideration and enjoyment of the Oxford community.

Oxford Fellowship is designed to help promote religious activities and fellowship on Oxford's campus. The club's activities include ice skating, square dances and retreats during the fall and spring quarters.
Phi Theta Kappa is the National Honor Society among two-year schools. Students who are ranked in the top five percent of their class after three quarters and have been recommended by the faculty, are eligible for membership.

On January 12th, a strange substance foreign to almost all Georgians started to fall out of the sky. Snow had hit Oxford and stayed around for a week. Students had a wonderful, fun time throwing snowballs and building snowmen. Even Dean Moncrief got in on the act.
Soccer is the focus of a lot of student interest during Fall Quarter at Oxford. Under the direction of Dr. Richard Shappell, the freshmen and sophomores of this year’s team displayed their talents in some very exciting games. The competitive spirit and skills demonstrated by the Oxford Blues did much to excite the interest of loyal student fans, many of whom, as freshmen, were introduced to soccer for the first time.

Intramurals are a large part of campus life at Oxford. They provide interaction among students on a competitive basis. Intramurals also serve to show the enormous amount of skill, dexterity and enthusiasm students possess. The students participate in softball, basketball, wrestling, football, volleyball, innertube basketball and blitzball.
Once again, Oxford students packed up and traveled to the slopes of North Carolina for Mid-Winter Break. Conditions were great as the Oxfordites scattered to the slopes of Seven Devils, Appalachian, Beech and Sugar Mountain for three days of skiing. Luck was with them as no students came back with any serious injuries, just many sore muscles.
Every year during Winter Break, different interim courses are offered. These courses enable students to visit areas and to participate in activities not ordinarily available.
Dr. Morris and three Oxford students spent eleven days experiencing la vie francaise in December. They were able to visit the chateaux and cathedrals of Blois, Chartres, and Reims by day and delight in the sights and sound of Paris by night.
Once again, Dr. Sharp and Dr. Landt, along with about 30 students, traveled to Texas. The group explored all aspects of desert biology. The highlight of the trip was the several-hour horse and mule excursion into the arid wilderness of Big Bend Desert.
High adventure in police patrol cars and life in a run-down hotel in Atlanta provided students participating in the Social Problems course with a different perspective on urban life. Among the places visited by the group were the Alto Correctional Institute, the Council of Battered Women, and the Atlanta Union Mission. Playing frisbee in Piedmont Park provided activity of a lighter nature for participants in the course.
FLORIDA!
Oxford College of Emory University is a special place, a community of special people. It is a place held dear to the hearts of many individuals. Part of what makes Oxford unique is the close relationship between the faculty and the students. The faculty members are noted for their dedication to the guidance and development of Oxford students. In an effort to express, in part, the appreciation of the student body for the unselfish dedication of Oxford's faculty, The 1982 Memory Staff wishes to take this opportunity to formally thank one faculty member, in particular, for the many hours she has contributed to the cultural enrichment of the Oxford community. We would like to dedicate The 1982 Memory to Dr. Ellanor Pruitt. Dr. Pruitt has taught English on the Oxford campus for over eight years. She also is advisor to the recently developed Black Student Alliance. Dr. Pruitt's most visible contributions to life at Oxford are the quarterly plays she directs and in which she occasionally acts. Dr. Pruitt is a fun and lively person who is as animated as the characters in her productions. Her warm smile and cheerful hello can brighten almost anyone's day. Dr. Pruitt cares about her students and is always ready to chat. As a faculty member, Dr. Pruitt has a special perspective, for she is an Oxford graduate. This allows her a particular understanding of the Oxford student. Dr. Ellanor Pruitt is indeed devoted to her work and to her students. To you, Dr. Pruitt, we dedicate our 1982 Memory.

To Ann2, Angie & Lisa who really make Oxford a nice place to be.
  Love, Biff

To Elizabeth Higgins whom without, Oxford would not be as fun a place to be.
  Love, Biff

B.S.
It hasn't been boring!
  Q.P.

Nora, Patty & Becky,
Thank ya'll for being such great friends!
  Good luck and we'll keep in touch forever! I love ya'll, Elizabeth

Mom,
Thank you for everything!
  Love, Mel & Rhoda

P.S. The window's open.

Davis,
Thanks for the best year ever. ILOYF.

Frankie Forrest,
Champagne & Lonely Nights. Torpedos but no rooms at the inn. Moo Moo had rubber-band cookies. Ice cold wake ups, Frustrations at times. But always, I'll love rock & roll. Sweet Dreams but is nothing sacred???
