THE OXFORD EXPERIENCE
A Flask
Surrounded by majesty.
Walk now to the center.
And surround your frail body.
With that which has survived.
Ages.

Walk now through the Gates of knowledge.
And find that beauty accompanies understanding.
She is as sturdy as brick, stone, and oak.
Centuries old.
Read for what a thousand hearts gave blood.
Read and weep with the trees,
As they weep,
Their tears carpeting the earth.

Walk now,
or forever hold your ground.

Gals
Oxford Fellowship enjoyed a fall retreat to the North Georgia Mountains. Under the leadership of Sammy Clark, our campus minister, a large group of students and faculty journeyed to Camp Pioneer where they spent an enlightening weekend. Everyone was able to get away from campus life, and everyone came to know each other a little better.
Circle K held a very rip-roaring initiation for its new members during Fall Semester. Each new member donned a skimpy swimsuit and paraded around the cafeteria in style. Everyone there enjoyed the beauties in their swimsuits, and to be sure, they enjoyed themselves, also!
Oxford Drama Guild

Presents . . .
The fall semester presentation of the play, The Crucible, was truly spectacular. Through the cooperation of the Drama Guild along with students and faculty, the performances were captivating as well as spellbinding. The plot of the play, concerning the Salem witch trials, was well written and was stunningly performed.
Spain

During the Christmas vacation, several students enjoyed an interim trip to Spain. Under the direction of Dr. Warburton, students toured many points of interest in the beautiful country and learned much about the country itself.

Desert

During the Christmas vacation, several students journeyed to Texas for the Desert Biology interim. Accompanied by Dr. Sharp and Dr. Landt, the group studied various aspects of the Big Bend National Park area. The students enjoyed a variety of highlights on their trip, including an excursion on horseback to a canyon floor.
Those attending the Desert Biology interim were: Dr. Homer Shapr, Dr. Fred Landt, David Miller, David Ashbury, Mary B. Reagan, Bonnie Brinson, Julie Alexander, Byron Thompson, Karen DiPietro, Matthew Mitchell, John Reynolds, John Arnold.
The Memory of this year would like to devote a small section of this yearbook to the campus of Oxford College. In and among these beautiful buildings, we have shared many of our memories together. Therefore, it is only fitting that we include this tribute to our campus.

Christmas at Oxford this year was very exciting. Several Christmas trees and lots of decorated dorm doors were all a part of the festive spirit. A highlight of the season was a student-faculty gathering in the Student Center. Great refreshments were served and everyone enjoyed talking with each other. Santa Claus even visited the party and as always, he was merry and jolly!

Dooley is a renowned figure on the Oxford campus. He secretly lurks within the walls and niches of campus buildings. He knows everything that happens on and off campus, to all students. These embarrassing secrets are revealed periodically in letters written by Dooley himself and read by his personal spokesman. This year's spokesman is Jay Gentry. Just remember that Dooley knows all, sees all, and tells all. So beware ...
Dedication
1983 Memory
To experience Oxford College requires avid participation and a willingness to become involved. Throughout 1982-1983, the people of Oxford College have strived to make this college better than before. It is through the dedication and loyalty of these people that future participants of the “Oxford Experience” can benefit from a great college life. It is with great pleasure that the 1982-1983 MEMORY dedicates this year’s book to the Faculty, Administration, and Student Body of Oxford College.
