Catch the Spirit!

THE MEMORY

at Oxford

1.9.9.2
Memory

You're gonna catch it . . .
RIGHT: Adam Leibowitz and Charlie Feroulas take a break from the frisbee picnic.

RIGHT: Christine Gendreau offers a pointer to Anastasia Parnham at a tavern party.
Stopping to smile for the photographer shows that Donna Schneider, Stephanie Erkfitz, Jennifer Bailey, Kristen Ottaviani, and Katy Holland are not "camera shy."

BELOW: Johanna "Hatches" out of her shell.

ABOVE: Sharing outside the classroom is one of the best ways to catch the spirit at Oxford.

RIGHT: It’s a fair catch for Kristen O’Brien.

RIGHT: Posing for the photographer offers Kristy Raska and Forest Malatestay a welcome rest.
LEFT: The first rule of college life: learning to depend on each other.

ABOVE: Drew Abernathy, Lucinda Faulkner, Stavros Lazos, Law Bayliss, Lori Driver and Reta Smith “jam” it up at Dooley’s Tavern.

LEFT: Oxford Fellowship dares to fight the mighty Chatooga!

RIGHT: Dads are the best when it comes to moving in to a Res Hall during orientation.

ACADEMIC LIFE

INTERESTING TID BIT: At left is a picture of Dr. Monica “Bonnie” Ali with an Alaskan dog sled. In an article of the “Georgia Pharmacist Quarterly,” she talks about the trip she made to Alaska to fulfill her three-month externship as a pharmacy student. She worked for two months at the Alaska Native Medical Center in Anchorage. Through this program she was able to meet the people of Alaska and interact with them. She was also able to enjoy the beautiful Alaskan treasures, such as eagles, bears, caribou and reindeer.

RIGHT: Dean McKibben points out the importance of a good education.
HUMANITIES

The professors are: Kenneth Anderson, Liana Carey, Lucas Carpenter, Andy Irwin, Clark Lemons, Kent Linville, Matt Morris, Delia Nisbet, Hoyt Oliver, Gretchen Schulz, Holly Stave, Bill Sullivan, Jim Warburton, Brownlee Waschek, and Janet Withers.
Andy “Offutt” Irwin is constantly searching for budding talent.

Interesting Tidbits: Dr. Hoyt Oliver is a wood carver in his spare time. In fact, one of his wood carvings is on permanent display in the library. Andy Irwin once was a comedian and writer at Walt Disney World. His also wrote a musical about St. Francis and lives with a dog named Charles.
The professors are: William Cody, Ted Davis, Bob Formaini, Sharon Lewis, Micheal McQuaide, Patti Owen-Smith, Neil Penn, Bill Shapiro, and Ina Jane Wundrum.

The far left picture is a picture of Mr. Ted Davis, a history teacher here at Oxford. The picture at left is of a camping trip that Mr. Davis attended in the summer of 1991. The picture depicts a scene of the Grand Teton mountains from Gros Ventre campgrounds in Grand Teton National park in Wyoming.
PHYSICAL EDUCATION

ABOVE: Billy Culbreth has a ball on the quad.

RIGHT: Gayle Doherty envisions another dance step.

LEFT: Chip Darracott prepares for the challenge of a new year in a new job.
The Oxford Studies' theme for Fall semester was the Mid East situation and for Spring, Dimensions of Spirituality. Programs ranged from lectures on various religions and middle eastern countries to performances by the African Cultural dance Company and harpist Mercedes Gomez. Of course, presentations by the Oxford College Dance Company, the Drama Guild and the Oxford College Chorale were offered to everyone's delight and enjoyment.
It's all a matter of balance for Jennifer Bradley.

Bridget Arnwine prepares for her performance in the Spring Recital.

The Chorus, Christy Warner, Chris Bonn, and Karri Andrews and the Voice, Christian Smith from the one act play "This Is A Test".

Academic Life is an extremely important part of the college experience. After all, most students are here to get an education. Oxford’s spirit of excellence is evident in its academics. The combination of eager students and knowledgable professors creates an atmosphere of learning on campus. Attending stimulating classes is part of every student’s daily routine, along with studying, writing papers, and seeking help from professors.

STUDENT LIFE
ASSOCIATE DEAN OF CAMPUS LIFE

To the uninitiated or the "outsider," Oxford College seems to be a place that has experienced little change during the past few decades. Looking through old copies of the Memory, it is both comforting and strange to see students in this same setting, with our familiar buildings and trees, sporting styles of dress and haircuts from vastly different eras. In fact, Oxford students, staff, and faculty often take pride in this seamless continuity from past to present. Oxford has always had a genuinely friendly campus, dedicated and interesting teachers, loyal alumni, and a lively residential student body of freshmen and sophomores.

Yet, while the images of Oxford seem unchanging, I believe this view is far too simple. Students come to Oxford today with wider ranging life experiences (home life, high school environment, and popular culture) than did their predecessors. It is hard to describe exactly, but many students tell me that they think Oxford may be in transition. Some social clubs, for example, have had more success with service projects than with parties. Also student leaders of various campus organizations have noticed that what worked last year will not necessarily work this year. Some club's membership are withering due to lack of interest or relevance, while new groups are finding their voice on campus.

What's going on here? I have had many conversations with students during the past few months, searching for answers. For some, change seems threatening and negative; yet, for me it is full of responsibility and signals an opportunity to take a thoughtful look at our services and programs for students. Student leaders must engage in fostering new traditions and finding creative ways to respond to emerging campus issues.

I am impressed by several ideas and programs that were born this year: Dowman Hall/Freshman Experience, a renewed spirit of volunteerism, S.H.A.R.K., the expansion of freshman seminars, DJ Dances, the return of the Spokesman, and many others. If we are, indeed, amidst some transition at Oxford, we must seize the moment and find ways to shape this change to make the Oxford community life even stronger.

Sammy Clark, a friend to all at Oxford, a father to students, dependable, yet unpredictable, and ever-smiling, he brings life and love and laughter to all the many things he undertakes. Two years in one place is such a short time to form lasting friendships, but Sammy quickly becomes important to a great many students as a spiritual advisor, and even as a mentor. Like a cornerstone at the College, his presence is one of stability in the changing world of young adults. He is a most wonderful example of friendship, what we all want for ourselves and wish to be for others.

Sammy, you will stand out among our experiences at Oxford, remaining longest in our hearts and minds.

CLUB LIFE
The purpose of Dooley’s Dolls is to support Dooley and help maintain his position as the “Spirit of Oxford”. Dooley’s Dolls serve the campus as well as the community and they also try to create an atmosphere of friendship, togetherness and unity among the students of Oxford College. Some of the projects Dooley’s Dolls have supported this year are the Black and White Dance, selling flowers for Valentine’s Day, an Easter Egg hunt, a seminar with BSA and two tavern parties. Dooley’s Dolls also helps with Dooley’s Birthday festivities. You must admit that all these projects help keep up the “spirit” at Oxford.

RIGHT: What a pair of Dolls, Maria Elena Fisher and Luis Martinez.
Circle K is a very unique club with a unity and a loyalty that shines through its members. It is an organization which combines service and social activities. Service projects for the year include having a blood drive, taking part in the Adopt-a-Highway program, sponsoring freshmen for Leadership Oxford, collecting food for needy families at Thanksgiving, and making donations to the Atlanta Food Bank and to the Brad Edwards Memorial Fund and Scholarship Fund. On the social side, Circle K has had BBQs, attended an International Circle K convention, and enjoyed just hanging out together. FACULTY ADVISER: Jim Hanna

Compass Club of Oxford of Emory is a service organization functioning under the sponsorship of a Pilot Club. It is a leadership and character-building student group which serves the campus and the community. Its projects for the year were a Trick-or-Treat and an Easter Egg Hunt for Palmer Stone children, a tye-dye booth for Fall Festival, Tavern parties featuring the Simpletons, and helping out at a soup kitchen. FACULTY ADVISER: Ms. Jan Smith.

RIGHT: The Fall Semester COE tap-ins are all dressed up for the special occasion.
Oxford Fellowship does just what its name implies: it brings students in fellowship together, and its doors are open to the entire student body. It offers weekly educational programs, such as a presentation by C.A.R.E. (Coalition Against Rape at Emory) and a debate on abortion. Missionaries to Peru and Kenya also spoke with the group. Other programs included renting a local roller skating rink and taking a group to play putt-putt. Oxford Fellowship sponsors a mid-week worship service which helps many students find peace and assurance from God in the midst of a busy week. Along with these weekly activities, this club also took groups of students on weekend retreats, which included white water rafting, skiing, canoeing through the Okefenokee Swamp, and a "Spiritual Survival Weekend". FACULTY ADVISER: Sammy Clark.

Kappa Omega is a club that enhances the social atmosphere at Oxford College while providing an opportunity for service and leadership at the same time. Service projects for the year included the Adopt-a-Grandmother program, Habitat for Humanity, painting Dooley’s Tavern, and building a volleyball court. Some social activities the group sponsored were study breaks during exams, dinner with the Deans, a cookout with Circle K, and spending time together. FACULTY ADVISER: Sammy Clark.

RIGHT: Adam Leibowitz and Ed Eiland give “thumbs up” to a tavern party.
For fall semester, LBA donated $100 to the Brad Edwards Scholarship fund. This is a new tradition that will be carried on for years to follow. LBA also assisted C.O.E. with providing a safe Halloween for the Palmer Stone children. Spring semester, they began sponsoring a UNICEF child by donating an estimated $200 to the fund. For years LBA has been a socially oriented club striving to enhance the social interaction of Oxford students. At the end of the semester, LBA again sponsored their annual (and popular) Grad Bash.

FACULTY ADVISER: Patsy McDonald.
Students Involved in Resources and the Environment (SIRE) stayed busy keeping the campus aware of environmental issues and actively participating in programs to save the environment. Campus programs included: a recycling program, a letter writing campaign to representatives, an Earth Day Celebration, and facts in the Urinal Journal and Lil’s. The group also helped clean up and maintain a nature trail, cleaned out a wetland, and donated money to several larger non-profit organizations. FACULTY ADVISER: Dr. Mike McQuaide.

RIGHT: J.J. Jenkins and fellow students “recycle” the frisbees during a picnic dinner on the green.
Student Government Association was busy this year planning new activities, setting precedents under its new constitution, and trying to represent the student body’s concerns. Some of the goals that SGA achieved this year were painting the sign in front of Dooley’s Tavern, co-sponsoring an educational program about LSD, attending a leadership conference in South Carolina, setting up a Judicial Board to hear cases concerning clubs, and chartering new organizations such as Amnesty International, SOAP, and the Muslim Student Association. FACULTY ADVISER: Terry Elam.

RIGHT: Robbie Lee (Attorney General), Maria Elena Fisher (Chair of SAC), Luis Martinez (SGA President), Ursula Carter (Secretary), and Elizabeth Kaufer (Vice President). Not pictured: Lisa Brodie (Treasurer).
Student Admission Association provided a service to the Oxford College community by helping to recruit potential students. Members hosted students overnight for Visitation Days, provided tours for prospective students, and welcomed accepted students and scholar candidates to Preview Days. Each member also had a group of students for which he or she was responsible for writing and calling throughout the year to share experiences at Oxford. The admissions staff offered dinners and other benefits periodically to express appreciation for all of the help that these students gave.

The International Students’ Organization is a club open to anyone interested in learning about diverse cultures and people from countries around the globe. I.S.O. functions to educate and promote respect for the customs and lifestyles of people from this and other countries. First semester I.S.O. sponsored a Caribbean Party, Mr. and Ms. Oxford, and had a booth at Fall Festival where they wrote names in Japanese, Arabic, Norwegian and Korean. They attended a welcome reception for international students at Symphony Hall and had a trip to Underground Atlanta. Second semester they had an International fashion show and dinner, International coffee house, and attended an International Festival at Emory. FACULTY ADVISERS: Dr. Reza Saadein, Linda Wood, and Dr. Jim Warburton.

IMPROV

Improv is an organization designed for actors and actresses to practice improvisational acting techniques and skills such as timing, facial expressions, body language, and projection.

DRAMA GUILD

The Drama Guild worked diligently to produce quality plays and programs for the campus. Members, besides acting in the plays, managed all aspects of play production, from building sets to running the lights. Students also directed one act plays, offering them the opportunity to experience being in charge.

The Inter Club Council (ICC) is made up of all the presidents of the chartered student organizations on campus. During the year they attended leadership workshops on topics related to leading a group.

Rotaract is a co-ed service club on campus. The club sponsored a walk-a-thon on campus to earn money for the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation. They also co-sponsored a program with SHARK on addiction in the family. The club accepts all students who want to join and work on service projects.

Mu Epsilon Delta is an academic information club designed to provide Oxford students with insights and information concerning professional fields in the health sciences. Two professors from Medical College of Georgia came to discuss requirements for Medical and Dentistry schools. Several students did volunteer work at Newton County Hospital. The group also toured Emory School of Medicine and invited a vet from Zoo Atlanta to speak.

Phi Gamma Literary Society publishes the Entropy, an annual collection of art, poems, essays, and short stories by Oxford College students and faculty. All members of the college community are invited to submit their work for publication.

MEMBERS: Christian Smith, Austin Sumner, Aimee Terrebonne, and Eran Tomer. FACULTY ADVISER: Dr. Lucas Carpenter.
CATHOLIC CLUB

Catholic Club gives Catholic students the opportunity to go to mass and get to know other students who share their beliefs. The club takes a group to St. Pius on Sundays. Its activities also included a Holy Week rememberance and celebration with an Easter Egg Hunt and a movie.

MEMBERS: Bill Ackourey, Maria Argueta, Maria Barron, Aurora Betson, Alex Collada, Hector Enriquez, Sonia Pereira, Brian Pint, Maribel Restrepo, Mike Wilson, and Chuck Yeh. FACULTY ADVISER: Tim Doyle.

VOLUNTEER COMMITTEE

Volunteering on the Oxford Campus is an integral part of most students' education. The program embodies the generous spirit at Oxford and takes this spirit out into the community. The Adopt-A-Grandparent division sponsored students who gave several hours a week to their “grandparents”. The Food Pantry/Clothes Closet division sponsored two food drives and a clothing drive. They also sponsored several students that gave an hour a week of their time to stack food at the pantry in Covington. The Habitat for Humanity division repainted the outside of a Habitat rebuilding project's home along with several other home repair projects. The Homeless Shelter/Soup Kitchen division worked as servers for the Open Door Soup Kitchen and spent an evening with the men who stay there. The Hospital Visitation Division sponsored student workers at Newton General Hospital who spent three hours per week doing volunteer work. The tutoring program was a great success at Palmer Stone Elementary throughout the year and many students began working at Cousins Middle School in the spring.

Phi Theta Kappa is a national academic honor society whose purpose is to uphold the values and standards of scholarship. Members must be in the top five percent of their class and have recommendation by the faculty. This year Phi Theta Kappa held a reception in honor of the guest lecturer from Israel, sponsored a teach-in on the new emerging world order, and as always, hosted the annual Academic Awards Banquet.

MEMBERS: Joanna Bonsall, Diana Davis, Emily Dober, David Hartl, Elizabeth Kaufer, Vivian LaBorde, Brian Miller, Rayni Nelson, Kevin Peterson, Karen Schroeder, Kim Smith, Heather Warnock, and Jamie Vander Woude. FACULTY ADVISER: Dr. Mike McQuaide.

Jewish Student Union is a growing club that will continue to make new strides as the year progresses. This year JSU co-sponsored a dinner with BSA, had a Holocaust Remembrance dinner, participated in a soup kitchen and homeless shelter, sponsored a Chanukah party and various car washes and study breaks.

MEMBERS: Ikie Antebi, Aaron Cohen, Joanne Colier, David Fradkin, Jason Goldfeder, Adam Leibowitz, Keryth Mendelow, Carlton Palmer, Lacy Perlman, Kimberly Russel, Eran Tomer, and Shana Wilons. FACULTY ADVISERS: Dr. Bill Shapiro and Chip Brent.
S.O.A.P.

Students Organized Against Prejudice is an organization which pulls students coming from many different backgrounds. S.O.A.P. is committed to the preservation of equality for all humanity, and its major goal is to alleviate prejudices on campus and throughout the community. S.O.A.P.'s projects included a debate at the Fall Festival, a campus wide discussion on Affirmative Action, discussions, fact sheets, and speakers on topics related to prejudices, and a candlelight vigil celebrating the unity of humanity and freedom.

STUDENT ACTIVITIES COMMITTEE

Student Activities Committee is designed to plan and organize social activities on and off campus. S.A.C. sponsored Fall and Spring Formals and Fall Festival. For the first time this year, S.A.C. put together Bloody Murder Week. This week was filled with different activities associated with Halloween. This year S.A.C. and C.A.C. combined to unite into one club.

MUSLIM STUDENT ASSOCIATION

Muslim Student Association is established to serve religious, social, and educational needs of the faculty, staff and students on Islamic faith and principles. This year MSA had a speaker on Islam in America, breakfast and dinners during Ramadan, and had joint meetings and dinners with JSU and BSA.

BLACK STUDENT ALLIANCE

The purpose of the Black Student Alliance is to create and maintain black identity and cohesiveness on the Oxford campus, to promote the knowledge of black culture and heritage, and to serve as a forum for the study and evaluation of black ideas and goals. Activities hosted by and participated in by BSA this year included: a Black Poetry Reading, Masquerade Ball, Freedom Dinner, Dinner Theatre, Reta Cobb Award Ceremony, and Variety Show.

MEMBERS: Bridget Arnwine, Nickie Barron, Eric Bridges, Aprina Broadnax, Lisa Brodie, Mark DeGirolamo, Tonya Dredden, Leo Erskine, Xernia Fortson, Cindy Green, Chandra Harris, Brit Horn, Sophia Jackson, Vivian LaBorde, Allison Louisy, Tracey Quarles, Linelle Ruffin, Kita Sims, Akissi Stokes Carley (President), Rhonda Swilling, Keneesha Thomas, Cecily Watkins, and Michelle Wright. FACULTY ADVISER: Chip Brent
Women’s Area Council is a group that strives to make the female residence halls a better place. It allocates money from SGA to various hall improvements and social functions. This year, WAC has had a pumpkin carving contest, holiday study break, Valentine’s study break for the Armed forces, a food drive and beach movies. They have provided dry erase boards, furniture, a TV and a VCR for the TV room, and furniture for the Sun deck.

MEMBERS: Aprina Broadnax, Daphne Cobb, Melissa Hardaway, Sophia Jackson, Sarah Mims, Maribel Restrepo, Keneesha Thomas, Monica Thomas, Lisa Wallace, and Arunie Wijesinghe.

The Food Committee is a sub group of SGA whose purpose is to work with ARA Food Service to enhance the dining program at Oxford. The members meet monthly with the ARA staff to evaluate the meals and programs and to forward suggestions from the student body about the dining hall.

MEMBERS: Johanna Bettis, Stephanie Erkfitz, Luis Martinez, Tammy Ptacek (Chair), Mukesh Sinha, and Austin Sumner.
HONOR COUNCIL

The Honor Council is the governing body for all cases of misconduct of an academic nature. The members are selected by the faculty and given intensive training prior to the start of the year. All honor council cases are kept in the strictest confidentiality, and students may appeal any decisions or sanctions.

CONDUCT BOARD

The Conduct Board is the disciplinary body for all conduct violations relating to students. The student members are recommended by the SGA to the Associate Dean for Campus Life, and then selected by the faculty members after intensive interviews. Cases are heard by the board and sanctions meted out as decided by the members. All cases are confidential and become a part of a student’s permanent record in the Campus Life office.

SHARK (Students Handling Alcohol/Drug Responsibilities on Kampus) is a new organization dedicated to raising awareness about the dangers that substance use and abuse can cause. It serves as a resource for those who need help and information. Shark was started in part with the FIPSE grant and should be around for some time. It is not an anti-alcohol or drug club, but an informative one.

DANCE COMPANY

Dance Company is an organization for people who love to dance. No one needs to have had any training at all to join. Dance Company helps to bring other companies here to Oxford in order to share the total dance experience with everyone. First semester the Oxford College Dance Company performed a “works in progress” concert for the purpose of letting students and faculty see all of the hard work that goes into a concert. Second semester the company put on the concert for Oxford Studies and entertained the residents of Covington Manor Nursing Home.

Fund for the Improvement of Postsecondary Education is a federal grant for the development of a campus-wide drug and alcohol prevention program. Oxford was one of only 100 higher education institutions nationwide selected for this FIPSE award. The program hopes to produce a significant overall decrease in the consumption of drugs and alcohol and drug/alcohol-related problem behaviors. The group also hopes to increase students', faculty and staff members' knowledge of alcohol and drug effects. One way of doing this is through SHARK, or Students Handling Alcohol/Drug Responsibilities on Kampus. This program is dedicated to raising awareness about drug and alcohol related issues. The group sponsors educational and social events which teach students about drugs and alcohol. This included a week of activities before spring break with events that taught about how common drug and alcohol problems are even on a small campus.

ABOVE: Whitney Banks marks a student with a ribbon. This ribbon states 34% of the students here have a problem with academics due to drug abuse.

For Oxford’s new arrivals, Orientation ’91 was a week of academic testing, educational workshops on topics related to life at college, and, of course, social activities for relaxation and fun! At the end of the week, everyone was oriented to the people, places, and things of Oxford College and ready to start their first semester at Oxford.
Without the people pictured on this page, the yearbook would have been impossible. It is to these people and many others that I wish to give my sincere thanks for a great year. Oxford College has been an experience that I will never forget. The friendships have been formed in the past two years will remain with me forever. Oxford has taught me in the classroom and in many other ways. It has taught me how to be a leader, how to value friendships, and most importantly, it has taught me about myself. I’ve enjoyed my years here so much that I don’t want them to come to an end, but as it is in life, everything must end sometime. If there is one thing that I will always remember about Oxford, it is that fact that so many students from so many different backgrounds can come together to form one unified group. To all of my friends here, you will never be forgotten by me. Brian Pint, Memory Editor.
