Alma Mater

In the heart of dear old Dixie
  Where the sun doth shine,
There is where our hearts are turning
  'Round old Emory's shrine.

We will ever sing thy praises,
  Loyal sons and true.
Hail thee now our Alma Mater,
  Hail the gold and blue.

Though the years around us gather,
  Crowned with love and cheer,
Still the memories of old Emory
  Grow to us more dear.

We will ever sing thy praises,
  Loyal sons and true.
Hail thee now our Alma Mater,
  Hail the gold and blue.

Athletic System

Ours is the intramural system of athletics. This system definitely determines the most outstanding men in each sport by the choice of letter men. All of the boys are divided up into three companies, A, B and C. The boys immediately pledge their allegiance to their companies and this results in a remarkable amount of spirit and rivalry.

The companies each have a coach and soon the boys are working together in smooth precision. The companies generally have a team for the larger boys and then the smaller boys get up separate teams. The main company teams exhibit first class athletic ability and the teamwork is something that compels one's admiration.

This system of athletics allows 100% of the boys to participate in athletics. Many people are under the impression that this system develops no keen rivalry between the teams. The sight of one of the many contests will soon convince one that nowhere will keener rivalry and competition be found.

The letter men of each sport are chosen at the end of each season of that particular sport. These men are chosen according to their merit and it is indeed an honor to wear one of these emblems.

This system of athletics is by far the best for a school of small means and of mixed ages. The smallest boy may find some activity and thus increase in body, whereas most small boys are denied the pleasure of athletic competition. This in itself is a very good argument for our system of athletics and I think that anyone witnessing or taking part in our contests will agree with me that this system is the best.

C. O. WHITE
The Hon. Chas. Tucker,
Hula Hula Island,
Hawaii.

My Dear Col.:—

I have just returned from an extensive trip, made possible by my inheriting some money from my father’s estate. As I saw all my classmates except you, I’m writing you what I found each one doing. My cat, Cholly, accompanied me on my trip.

First of all, I visited Oxford, a very changed old Oxford from the one we once knew. It is now the seat of a big University, called the University of the World. It has bought out Porterdale’s entire output of aeroplane parts, as each student is furnished with the latest model planes. Whom should I find as the President of this great University but C. R. Ensor, my old classmate? I went upon their large landing field (built from the top of Seney Hall to Phi Gamma); and there I found Franklin Nease, Nippy Fox and C. O. White, who had studied aviation in Africa, instructing the young students the manly arts of flying kites and shooting “profs” as they landed.

Nease invited me to have a ride in his plane, and we visited the nearby farm of Hugh Mercer and Norwood Rachels. They are partners in a large pea and nut farm. We found them busily engaged squeezing the juices from these delicate vegetables to pour into the eyes of the congregation while the Oxford pastor, Brother Henry Jordan, preaches to them in the Old Church.

Teasley kindly offered to carry me to Gainesville, Ga., in his private yacht; you knew a canal has been dug from the Yellow River to Gainesville. How I enjoyed the beautiful mountain scenery! The mountains in the spring remind me of you—so romantic. To add to my pleasure, I found Jack Neal and Bill Paris teaching at Riverside. They were so changed, I hardly knew them. Bill is a large pompous man, weighing two hundred and fifty pounds, and Jack is very wrinkled and entirely bald.

I wanted to tour the North Georgia mountains, and Bill recommended “Hayseed” Hunter and Boring as guides. Each came up smiling, with a large chew of tobacco in their mouths, and dressed in a natty green uniform and cap. I hated very much to leave my classmates and friends after such an extremely pleasant tour of the mountains, but I had already planned to go on to New York where I have a dancing and singing act booked for ten weeks at the Roxy.

After traveling around the world with the shows, seeing all kinds of men, and not wanting to die an old maid, I am now willing to accept the proposal that you made the night of the Junior-Senior banquet at E. J. C. in 1930.

Today's perfection is beyond the one of past years--behind the one of years to come.

With study and experiment, maintenance of proven processes, vigilance in sales, service and manufacture, we are seeking an Ideal--an Ideal that we move ahead with the progress of our industry.

Thirty years' experience in Annual printing and binding is our background. Our restless urge is ever FORWARD.
